2. Santa Claus Gathering on November 29th - dress up as a Santa Claus and get free entrance to Europa-Park

On the second Santa Claus Gathering on November 29th 2003, everybody has the chance to get free entrance to Germany's biggest leisure park. How it works? Visitors have to be dressed with a red Santa suit, Santa hat and a big, white bushy beard. With the big Santa Claus Gathering, Europa-Park will try to set a new world record. All Santas will meet at 11 am in front of the Europa-Park Dome.

Under the motto "Santa Claus rides roller coasters", a special highlight will take place at Europa-Park already for the second time in order to start the new winter season. Because on this day, Santa Claus will not only shoot down the traditional chimneys, but also roller coasters! In the wintry decorated park, numerous Santas from all over the world will meet during the second Santa Claus Gathering. Last year, 1442 Santas met at Europa-Park. This year, our goal is to gather even more Santas in the park, in order to set a new world record. How we want to manage this? With the help of Europa-Park's visitors! Because with their imagination, we will try to break the existing record on November 29th. All those who dress up as a Santa Claus on this day, can visit Germany's biggest leisure park for free. So don't forget your red Santa suit, red hat and bushy beard - because only "authentic" Santas are allowed to enter the park for free! Put on your clothes and get into the wintry fun of Europa-Park, which presents itself in a beautiful and festive atmosphere and offers many additional winter-attractions during the wintertime.
